Read the text carefully.

Paul Clark, a young boy, lives with his parents in London. He is tall and slim and he's got short brown hair. Mr Clark, Paul's father, is a doctor and Mrs Clark, Paul's mother, is an architect. She's forty-three. They have a very busy life but they like their jobs very much. Every day they get up early to go to work. Before Mr Clark goes to the hospital, he drives his wife to her office and his son to school.

Today is Sunday and the family is at home. At the weekend, they usually do outdoor activities but not today, because Mr and Mrs Clark are very tired and Paul must study. He has got a Maths test tomorrow.

Right now, Mrs Clark is watching TV. Her husband is reading a book and Paul is studying in his bedroom.
